I had to take it off the camera and do a bit of retouching. But it seems to have done a good job preserving the video quality. I've tried other brands before but they produced a lot of streaks. Sen. Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.) on Thursday defended his decision to meet behind closed doors with Jeffrey Epstein, the disgraced billionaire who is accused of sexual abuse. Graham said he's "never met" Epstein. The senator also said he has "never been contacted by anybody with respect to this." "If anyone called me and said 'hey, want to talk about this guy?' I would have said 'no, no I don't want to talk about that. I'd rather talk about this, this, this and this,'" he said on Fox News. "I think it's important, from the past, that people remember he served 10 months in jail and still did this," Graham added. "And the people that committed these horrendous acts, we're told, wait a couple of weeks after the president's term ends. That's not a pretty story." ADVERTISEMENT Epstein, 66, was arrested last month and charged with sex trafficking and sex trafficking conspiracy. The alleged crimes span several decades, according to the indictment, which noted how Epstein had "sexually exploited and abused dozens of minor girls." Graham's comments came after other Republicans, including President Trump Donald John TrumpBiden on Trump's refusal to commit to peaceful transfer of power: 'What country are we in?' Trump suggested, after he learned of the charges against Epstein, that he didn't know the financier socially and wouldn't have brought up the matter. "I'm not a fan of his," Trump said last month. "It's not something that would have been discussed." The South Carolina senator said Thursday he "would have mentioned it" had the matter been brought up by "anybody." Graham suggested Epstein's case should be handled with "a little more respect." "I have not talked to the president about this, but I would ask him to give him a little more respect because this guy has a long history of this," he said. "These crimes are far different from something [Trump] did when he was younger. He was not that young." The senator claimed he's aware of the businessman's past. "I know him, I know his family, I know the
